

“The ARB Australian Off Road Racing Series is going from strength to strength,” stated Danny Brown, Series Chair. “We’ve passed the half way point of our fifth year and the competitor support this year has increased dramatically. The move this year to AASA has been seamless with amazingly positive feedback from event organisers and competitors alike. As a series we would like to acknowledge the support and professionalism from the team at AASA.”

Following a series teleconference last night, the dates for the 2018 calendar have been released.

Round 1	Griffith, NSW	16-18 March
Round 2	Mildura, Vic	20-22 April
Round 3	Sea Lake, Vic	08-10 June
Round 4	Waikerie, SA	13-15 July
Round 5	Goondiwindi, Qld	17-19 August
Round 6	Millicent, SA	21-23 September

“We wanted to get our dates sorted and released early to give other state events an opportunity to work through their calendars. The dates are very similar to this year with the exception of Waikerie moving earlier by one week. This gives the series a nice even spread and gap between events,” Danny said.

As in previous years, teams will register with the ARB Australian Off Road Racing Series to qualify for the point score and contingency program. Registration will open early in 2018 with 20 bonus points on offer for registrations received before the close of entries for the first round, the ARB Griffith 400.
